THE TRADE UNION MOVEMENT IN UKRAINE

This article develops the problem on formation and functioning of trade union movement in Ukraine during the economic instability and political indeterminacy.

The article summarizes the issue of development of current trade unions in Ukraine and identifies its positive and negative features.

At the moment, unionism in Ukraine is on the difficult phase of becoming, finding its own place in the system of new socio-economic and political relations. Traditional unions are transformed and new professional organizations are created. As practice shows, unions are the main element of socio-economic relations at the market system of earning regulation that is very important in domestic and foreign economy. But, the situation in our country becomes in the way that unions are not effective, that is why, we should find their alternatives of being or offer factors of increasing effective of their functioning.

Today, unionism declines and doesn't develop as previously. There are a lot of reasons of such crisis: developing of unionism requires to renewal its soviet structure in Ukraine; we should to renewal and to change forms, methods and means of functions structures and links. Should take into account incompleteness and unsystematic nature of political and law system and economic condition in Ukraine. Ukrainian unions should present the strategy and the program of specific steps about its realization and take into account folk's remarks.

Therefore, should establish declaration and show it to the general public. As today all proposition has only documental character but not the practice. Developing of the unionism in Ukraine will be an actual problem which should be explored by research of foreign experience its formation, becoming and developing.
